Merger of the Underlying Fund of the Investment Choice

- Schroder AS Gold & Precious Metals A (SCGMU)(the “Investment Choice”)

As advised by Schroders, on June 29, 2016 (the “Effective Date”) Schroder Alternative Solutions – Gold and Precious Metals Fund (the “Contributing Fund”), the underlying fund of the Investment Choice, will contribute all of its assets and liabilities in kind (the “Contribution”) to Schroder International Selection Fund – Global Gold (the “Receiving Fund”).

Reasons for the Contribution

The board of directors of Schroder Alternative Solutions, after considerable analysis and review, has concluded that, given the relative similarity of the investment objectives of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund, investors of the Contributing Fund will benefit from a contribution to the Receiving Fund. The Contributing Fund has approximately 128.9 million US dollars under management as at March 31, 2016 and is too small to manage cost-effectively. The directors of Schroder Alternative Solutions believe that, as the Receiving Fund is a UCITS fund and is more widely distributed and recognised in different countries around the world than the Contributing Fund, the Receiving Fund will have potential to attract further assets given a wider client base. The Contribution should also give access to lower ongoing charges for all investors in the Contributing Fund. The umbrella fund of the Receiving Fund, i.e. Schroder International Selection Fund, has a much higher asset under management than that of the Contributing Fund, i.e. Schroder Alternative Solutions and some of the fees can be shared among other sub-funds of the Schroder International Selection Fund.

Summary of key similarities and differences of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund

- (i) Key similarities
  - Structure: both funds are sub-funds of an open-ended investment company which qualifies as a Société d’Investissement à Capital Variable (“SICAV”)
  - Key operators: both funds have the same management company, investment manager and custodian/depository
  - Investment objective: one of the objectives of the Contributing Fund and the objective of the Receiving Fund are to provide capital growth through investments in equities of companies involved in gold related industries
- (ii) Key differences
  - Fund category: the Contributing Fund is a futures and options fund and the Receiving Fund is an equity fund
  - Eligible assets: the Contributing Fund invests in both physically backed commodity ETFs and commodity related equities while the Receiving Fund will focus solely on commodity related equities
  - Diversification restrictions: the Contributing Fund has no diversification restrictions while the Receiving Fund is subject to the 5/40 rule of diversification
  - Volatility: The volatility of the Receiving Fund is expected to be marginally higher than the Contributing Fund due to its greater focus in equity investments
  - UCITS regulation: the Contributing Fund is not subject to UCITS regulations while the Receiving Fund is subject to UCITS regulations
  - Fund size: The Contributing Fund has approximately 128.9 million US dollars under management as at March 31, 2016 while the Receiving Fund has not been launched but will be incepted by the Contribution
- (iii) Fees and charges

Both funds have the same investment management fee, custodian/depository fee, distribution charge, administration fee, custody safekeeping fee and transaction fees charged by the custodian/depository. However, please note that the fund accounting and valuation fees of the Contributing Fund are higher than that of the Receiving Fund.

The table below summarises the annual investment management charge (the “AMC”) and ongoing charges (the “OGC”) for the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund. The AMC of the Contributing Fund is the same as that of the Receiving Fund, but the Receiving Fund should have a lower OGC. Please note that the OGC includes the AMC and all other charges and expenses.

Contributing Fund		Receiving Fund
1.50%	2.12%	1.50%	2.01%

Expected impact of the Contribution

It is expected that the Contribution will have a favourable impact on the investors of the Contributing Fund based on the following reasons: (i) Although the two funds have a broadly similar market exposure, as both invest in equities of companies involved in gold related industries, Schroders believes that the Receiving Fund has the potential to deliver a greater return over the long term in view of its greater focus in equity investments. The investment team is competent and has experience in managing gold related strategies. The investment desk that manages the Contributing Fund will manage the Receiving Fund and will continue to do so after the Contribution. (ii) Schroders believes that the Receiving Fund will grow in assets over the long term, which should result in lower ongoing charges to investors.

Please note that there is a risk that significant redemption in the Contributing Fund may occur prior to the Contribution, which may reduce the assets received by the Receiving Fund through the Contribution. There is also a risk that the Receiving Fund may not attract as much assets as anticipated after launch.

Costs and expenses of the Contribution

The Contributing Fund has no outstanding set-up costs. The expenses incurred in the Contribution, including the legal, advisory and administrative costs, will be borne by the Schroder Investment Management (Luxembourg) S.A. (the management company). Costs associated with portfolio trading required to align the Contributing Fund's portfolio with that of the Receiving Fund from June 23, 2016 to the Effective Date will be included in the calculation of the net asset values per share of the Contributing Fund calculated for those days and will be borne by investors who choose to remain invested.

Consequential to the merger, the following changes/ arrangement will apply to the Investment Choice.

Dear Shareholder,

Changes to Schroder Alternative Solutions – Gold and Precious Metals Fund

We are writing to advise you that on 29 June 2016 (the Effective Date) Schroder Alternative Solutions – Gold and Precious Metals Fund (the Contributing Fund) will contribute all of its assets and liabilities in kind (the Contribution) to Schroder International Selection Fund – Global Gold (the Receiving Fund). Shareholders in the Contributing Fund will receive the equivalent value of shares in the Receiving Fund in place of their current shares in the Contributing Fund.

The Contribution was authorised by the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier on 21 January 2016.

The Contributing Fund is no longer allowed to be marketed to the public in Hong Kong, and subscriptions and switches from new investors into the Contributing Fund will not be accepted with effect from the date of this notice.

The Contributing Fund will be liquidated following the Contribution.

A) Reasons for the Contribution

In accordance with its power to decide whether the Contribution to the Receiving Fund is in the interest of shareholders as provided in article 5 of the articles of incorporation of Schroder Alternative Solutions, the board of directors of Schroder Alternative Solutions, after considerable analysis and review, has concluded that, given the relative similarity of the investment objectives of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund, shareholders of the Contributing Fund will benefit from a contribution to the Receiving Fund. The Contributing Fund has approximately 128.9 million US dollars under management as at 31 March 2016 and is too small to manage cost-effectively. The directors of Schroder Alternative Solutions believe that, as the Receiving Fund is a UCITS fund and is more widely distributed and recognised in different countries around the world than the Contributing Fund, the Receiving Fund will have potential to attract further assets given a wider client base. The Contribution should also give access to lower ongoing charges for all shareholders in the Contributing Fund. The umbrella fund of the Receiving Fund, i.e. Schroder International Selection Fund, has a much higher assets under management than that of the Contributing Fund, i.e. Schroder Alternative Solutions and some of the fees can be shared among other sub-funds of the Schroder International Selection Fund.

B) Summary of key similarities and differences of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund

- (i) The key similarities of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund are as follows:
- Structure: Both funds are sub-funds of an open-ended investment company which qualifies as a Société d'Investissement à Capital Variable ("SICAV");
  - Key operators: Both funds have the same Management Company, investment manager and custodian/depository;
  - Investment objective: one of the objectives of the Contributing Fund and the objective of the Receiving Fund are to provide capital growth through investments in equities of companies involved in gold related industries;
- (ii) The key differences of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund are as follows:
- Fund category: the Contributing Fund is a Futures and Options Fund and the Receiving Fund is an Equity Fund;
  - Eligible assets: the Contributing Fund invests in both physically backed commodity ETFs and commodity related equities while the Receiving Fund will focus solely on commodity related equities;
  - Diversification restrictions: the Contribution Fund has no diversification restrictions while the Receiving Fund is subject to the 5/40 rule of diversification, please refer to the item "Key change in investment restrictions" in the Appendix for further details;
  - Volatility: The volatility of the Receiving Fund is expected to be marginally higher than the Contributing Fund due to its greater focus in equity investments;
  - UCITS regulation: the Contributing Fund is not subject to UCITS regulations while the Receiving Fund is subject to UCITS regulations;
  - Fund size: The Contributing Fund has approximately 128.9 million US dollars under management as at 31 March 2016 while the Receiving Fund has not been launched but will be incepted by the Contribution;
  - Investment minima: the minimum initial and subsequent investment amounts of the A share class of the Receiving Fund are lower than that of the Contributing Fund;
- (iii) Fees and Charges

The A share classes of both funds have the same investment management fee, custodian/depository fee, distribution charge, administration fee, custody safekeeping fee and transaction fees charged by the custodian/depository. However, please note that the fund accounting and valuation fees of A share classes of the Contributing Fund are different from that of the Receiving Fund. Please refer to the Appendix for further details.

The table below summarises the annual investment management charge (the AMC) and ongoing charges (the OGC) for the share classes of the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund. The AMC of the A share class of the Contributing Fund is the same as that of A share class of the Receiving Fund, but the Receiving Fund should have a lower OGC. Please note that the OGC includes the AMC and all other charges and expenses.

A	1.50%	2.12%	A	1.50%	2.01%

<sup>2</sup> The OGC is based on the ongoing expenses and average net assets estimated by the investment manager of the Receiving Fund for the first year of launch. The estimate of the average net assets used for calculating the ongoing charges figure is USD100 million. However, the actual ongoing expenses and average net assets of the Receiving Fund may be different from the estimates.

A key features comparison table regarding the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund (including the share class changes) can be found in the Appendix to this letter.

C) Expected impact of the Contribution

It is expected that the Contribution will have a favourable impact on the shareholders of the Contributing Fund based on the following reasons: (i) Although the two funds have a broadly similar market exposure, as both invest in equities of companies involved in gold related industries, we believe that the Receiving Fund has the potential to deliver a greater return over the long term in view of its greater focus in equity investments. The investment team is competent and has experience in managing gold related strategies. The investment desk that manages the Contributing Fund will manage the Receiving Fund and will continue to do so after the Contribution. (ii) We believe that the Receiving Fund will grow in assets over the long term, which should result in lower ongoing charges to investors.

Please note that there is a risk that significant redemption in the Contributing Fund may occur prior to the Contribution, which may reduce the assets received by the Receiving Fund through the Contribution. There is also a risk that the Receiving Fund may not attract as much assets as anticipated after launch.

There are certain differences between the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund as highlighted above and as set out in the Appendix, which you should also consider carefully.

D) Mechanism of the Contribution

(i) Share classes

Investors in the A share class of the Contributing Fund will be moved into the A share class of the Receiving Fund of the same currency to minimise shareholder disruption. The share classes have similar features (for example, initial charge, AMC, distribution charge, dividend policy and dealing arrangement etc.). A full summary of which Contributing Fund share classes will be contributed into which Receiving Fund share classes can be found in the Appendix to this letter.

(ii) Costs and expenses of the Contribution

The Contributing Fund has no outstanding set-up costs. The expenses incurred in the Contribution, including the legal, advisory and administrative costs, will be borne by the Schroder Investment Management (Luxembourg) S.A. (the Management Company). Costs associated with portfolio trading required to align the Contributing Fund's portfolio with that of the Receiving Fund from 23 June 2016 to the Effective Date will be included in the calculation of the net asset values per share of the Contributing Fund calculated for those days and will be borne by investors who choose to remain invested.

(iii) Exchange ratio, treatment of accrued income and consequences of the Contribution

On the Effective Date, the assets and liabilities of the Contributing Fund will be transferred to the Receiving Fund and the Contributing Fund will then be liquidated. For the shares of each class that they hold in the Contributing Fund, shareholders will receive an equal amount by value of shares of the corresponding class in the Receiving Fund, calculated at the net asset value per share of the Contributing Fund and the initial issue price of shares in the Receiving Fund on the Effective Date.

Any accrued income relating to the Contributing Fund's shares at the time of the Contribution on the Effective Date will be included in the calculation of the final net asset value per share of the Contributing Fund and will be accounted for after the Contribution in the net asset value per share of the Receiving Fund.

As such, you will become a shareholder of the Receiving Fund, in the share class which corresponds to your current holding in the Contributing Fund. Please refer to the Appendix to view the existing and new share class mapping.

The first dealing date for your shares in the Receiving Fund will be 1 July 2016, the related dealing cut-off for this dealing day being 5.00 p.m. Hong Kong time on the same date.

E) Rights of shareholders to redeem/switch

If you do not wish to hold shares in the Receiving Fund from the Effective Date, you have the right to redeem your holding in the Contributing Fund or to switch into another Schroder fund authorized by the Securities and Futures Commission<sup>3</sup> at any time up to and including the dealing day on 22 June 2016. If you would like more information about other funds available in the Schroders fund range please contact your local Schroders office or your usual professional adviser or Schroders Investor Hotline on (+852) 2869 6968.

We will execute your redemption or switch instructions free of charge, in accordance with the provisions of the prospectus of the Contributing Fund. Please note that some distributors, paying agents, correspondent banks or similar agents might charge you transaction fees. Please also note that they might also have a different deal cut-off which is earlier than that described above, so please check with them to ensure that your instructions reach us in Hong Kong before the 5.00 p.m. Hong Kong time deal cut-off time on 22 June 2016.

Subscriptions or switches into the Contributing Fund from new investors in Hong Kong will not be accepted from the date of this notice. To allow sufficient time for changes to be made to regular savings plans and similar facilities, subscriptions or switches into the Contributing Fund will be accepted from existing investors until 22 June 2016 (dealing cut-off time at 5.00 p.m. Hong Kong time on 22 June 2016).

F) Tax status

Generally, the conversion of shares at the time of the Contribution and/or the redemption or switch of shares prior to the Contribution should not give rise to any Hong Kong tax implications for Hong Kong shareholders. In particular, any capital gain so derived by Hong Kong shareholders should not in general be subject to Hong Kong profits tax. However, for any such gain derived by certain types of shareholders (for instance, dealers in securities, financial institutions and insurance companies carrying on a trade or business in Hong Kong), there is a higher chance that the Inland Revenue Department of Hong Kong would question whether the gain, if any, derived by these shareholders is indeed capital in nature. If the gain is considered to be trading gain rather than capital gain, it would be chargeable to profits tax (which is currently imposed at a rate of 16.5% on corporations and 15% on unincorporated businesses including individuals), if the amount is regarded as arising in or derived from Hong Kong (i.e., Hong Kong sourced profits). There is currently no general turnover, sales or value-added tax in Hong Kong. On the basis that the registers of members of both the Contributing Fund and the Receiving Fund are not maintained in Hong Kong, their shares should not fall within the definition of Hong Kong stocks and hence the conversion of shares at the time of the Contribution and the redemption or switch of shares prior to the Contribution should not give rise to any Hong Kong stamp duty liability to the shareholders. If you are in any doubt about your potential tax liability as a consequence of the Contribution, you should seek independent professional advice in these matters.
